

The greatest gift that one
can give
someone else
is hope, that he is not alone.

notes from sherri

Someone wise said "We rise by lifting others."

And you all, each one of you, did that profoundly last Saturday. You lifted me so very much - in pride to be standing with you, in being "wowed" by the collective sound and harmonies I was hearing, and in being overcome by such powerful love and sincerity in every word you sang.

And so was every other person there. I cannot tell you how many people came up to me saying what I just said. Several said they just weren't feeling up to the holidays.... then bam. Every song lifted them higher. YOU brought their spirit back to life.

I will never be able to thank you enough for allowing me the privilege to direct you. For trusting that you COULD learn all of this music. (I knew you could!!) And learning it BEAUTIFULLY! And also, for opening your hearts to lift so many others. And for having truly awesome senses of humor!!!!!!

This IS amazing grace. And WOW, was it fun!
